About the Leadership Development Grant Fund

Leadership Development Grants provide direct and accessible grants for congregational leaders and presbytery leaders and members, individually or in cohorts, to seek opportunities for learning and growth that will benefit them individually, benefit their place(s) of ministry, and benefit the Presbytery. Grants will address one or more of three distinct but often overlapping components/categories: knowledge component, relational component, and spiritual component. Grants can be sought by individuals or groups for single events, for a series of events, or for the formation and support of ongoing leadership groups. The Presbytery, through its staff or committees, can also seek funding for Presbytery-sponsored leadership development initiatives. For single events, the Presbytery will provide up to $2,000 per person per event, and up to $6,000 for multiple individuals from the same cohort (for example: from a congregation, committee.) For a single series of training, learning, or spiritual development opportunities the Presbytery will award up to $4,000 for an individual, and up to $8,000 for multiple individuals from the same cohort. For ongoing leadership groups of up to six people, annual support will be available up to $10,000. For Presbytery committees and larger groups, grants for any amount will be considered.
